INTERNATIONAL STUDENT LEONIE SHARES HER EXPERIENCE

One of the best things that I encountered here (at DMC) is taking the ESL class. Not only did it help me to improve my English skills, but the staff and the teachers are amazing. It always felt very supportive.

The challenges that I encountered were balancing my schedule at work, doing all of my online work and staying up late to call my family back home. I learned from my experience that you have to keep your faith; focus on your goals and always be optimistic.

Because of my experiences at Drake Medox College, I have become more appreciative of the simple things I have back home. I became more humble and more compassionate. Through my ESL Program, I improved my writing skills and became a better active listener.

As a Healthcare provider, communication plays a very important part of our daily lives. Learning the different approaches of effective communication will help us to become more efficient Healthcare workers.

OCTOBER IS COMMUNITY INCLUSION MONTH

Every October British Columbians make time to celebrate the contributions and potential of individuals in our communities with developmental disabilities. This is also a time to honor the family members, friends, community organizations, volunteers and caregivers who work so hard to advocate for and support these individuals in being fully engaged members of our society.

“The beauty of this world lies in the diversity of its people”

The Drake Medox College Community Support Worker Program prepares students for rewarding careers serving individuals with developmental disabilities and other vulnerable members of our population.

Offered in Combined Delivery, our CSW students are able to attend weekend classes and complete the balance of their learning on-line so that they may continue to work while they study. We have classes starting in October, November and December. Call an advisor today @ 604 629-0196 to learn more about this awesome program where over 97% of our students get hired as soon as they graduate!
